ILADS European Scientific Conference April 19-21, 2024 Germany

Hotel Vier Jahreszeiten Starnberg
(near Munich)

ILADS is an international medical society dedicated to the appropriate diagnosis and treatment of Lyme and associated diseases. The ILADS European Scientific Conference brings together doctors and medical professionals to learn about emerging treatments and strategies to help diagnose and treat vector-borne illnesses in their everyday clinical practices.

Join us next April in beautiful Lake Starnberg for three days of educational content and clinical discussions on the latest developments and treatments for Lyme and tick-borne illnesses.

Highlights include:

- Half day presentation of ILADS Vector-Borne Illness Fundamentals
- Networking opportunities with physician leaders from around the globe
- Vendors showcasing medical services
- Conveniently located 25 minutes from Munich by rail or car
